Project Type: Dirt Tank Cleanout and Repair
Brief Project Summary: South Fork and Upper Cottonwood Tanks are located within unit 22 South Southwest of Rye and South of Jakes Corner respectively. They are both part of the Bar-T-Bar allotment. These dirt tanks have become ineffective at holding water due to the high level of silt as a result of the Willow Fire. Cleaning out and repairing these tanks would greatly benefit the wildlife in the area. The current livestock permittee in the area has agreed to provide money to fix one of the tanks if the HPC process could provide money for the other. Essentially this is a “buy one get one free” tank cleanout and repair.
Big Game Wildlife Species to Benefit: 50% Mule Deer 50% Whitetail Deer

NEED STATEMENT – PROBLEM ANALYSIS:

Upper Cottonwood and South Fork Dirt Tanks are located within unit 22 south. Upper Cottonwood tank is south of Jakes Corner and South Fork is southwest of Rye and both are part of the Bar-T-Bar allotment. These dirt tanks no longer hold water because they have become silted in and the dikes have broken primarily due to the Willow Fire in 2004. These areas are relatively void of perennial water and wildlife rely on these dirt tanks during the dryer months. Cleaning out and repairing these dirt tanks will provide wildlife with the much needed water currently vacant in the area.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES:

Cleanout and repair of these two dirt tanks will increase water in an area currently void of good water sources. These two tanks are located in prime whitetail and mule deer habitat and will also provide water to small game and predators as well. Elk, bear and javelina frequent the area as well.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION AND STRATEGIES:

Removing sediment and repairing the dams on these tanks will increase the holding capacity of each tank. The current permittee has agreed to complete one of the tanks with his own funding if the HPC could fund the second tank. Approval from the forest service has been obtained in writing for each of these tanks.
